DELEGATES FIND 'FRISCO' CHANGED

OLD ROMANTIC DAYS OF BIG PACIFIC COAST CITY HAS UNDERGONE GREAT CHANGE.

By the Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 19.—Visitors to the democratic national convention will see but few reminders of the old, romantic days of San Francisco, when the red-shirted miners swept down from the gold-streaked reaches of the Sierras and threw fistfuls of "pay dirt" on the bars or the store counters for whatever they wished to purchase.

They will never run across such characters as the little old millionaire who used to haunt the "Barbary Coast" resorts in memory of the old time residents. This individual, who had hit a "pay streak" early in the "mother lode" of northern California, used to order one particular brand of champagne, the price of which he well knew. Although he was a "good fellow," he never would allow himself to be victimized by the loose, vicious financiering of the district. He would keep the cork from every bottle, no matter how convivial it might be, and when the time came to settle up he would produce these corks to check against his bill. If the dun did not coincide with the evidence of the corkage he would not pay it.

Gone is the roaring "coast" and its less picturesque environs. "Bottle" Koenig and "Bottle" Meyers, who used to run noisy cock fighting establishments in what is now the shadow of the Hall of Justice, have long since passed on, and the "Montana Dance Hall," most blaring and blatant of all the coast resorts, is hardly a memory. Even the establishment of the old German doctor, who, according to some local histories, used to be the German emperor's personal physician, is gone almost from the recollection of man. It is here that the denizens of the "coast" were bathed and shorn and set right physically after their jousts with John Barleycorn. Chinatown guides still point out the little restaurant hanging precariously over old Dupont street where Frank Norris, the author, went occasionally to get a bit of local color. Directly ahead and facing the Hall of Justice, is Portsmouth Square, a cove for the city's

Three Hundred Women Shot By the Bandit Villa

Women Captured During an Encounter with Regiment of De Facto Cavalry.

MEXICO CITY, June 19.—Three hundred women camp followers attached to the government forces, have been killed by the orders of Francisco Villa, the bandit, according to El Democrata today, quoting Jacinto Trueba, a wealthy merchant of Jimenez, state of Chihuahua. Excelsior prints a similar story but does not give the source of its information.

According to Trueba, Villa captured the women during an encounter with a regiment of de facto cavalry between Parral and Jimenez. He ordered the women lined up for

MISS ACHSAH GAMBLE
TEACHER AT NORMAL

GIVES OWN BLOOD TO AID A FRIEND

BEAUTIFUL CRITIC TEACHER AT EAST CENTRAL NORMAL
SUBMITS TO BLOOD
TRANSFUSION.

When the physicians who are caring for Mrs. R. R. Robinson at the local hospital gave out the word last Thursday that the patient was in need of good blood from the veins of some well person, there was at once a host of volunteers who were willing to spare some of their rich, red blood. Miss Achsa Gamble was the one chosen from the number, as her blood most resembled that of the patient.

The blood transfusion operation did little harm to her. She felt a slight illness for a few hours and after that felt as normal as ever. Miss Gamble is a critic teacher at East Central State Normal. Blood transfusion is one of the new developments in science. It has proven an invaluable operation in many cases. The blood of the person who is giving the blood must be tested by a chemist and compared with the blood of the anemic patient. It is said that dissimilar bloods do harm instead of good when placed together.

Those who volunteered in this case were: Jack Price, H. Norris, R. R. Robinson, another Mr. Robinson, Roy Robinson, Ralph Heard, Oscar Parker, E. C. Wilson, Miss Lamar, Miss Carney, Max Seton, Roy Seton, Miss Gamble, Mrs. Andrews, Dr. Breco and many others whose names were unobtainable. Five of the volunteers had their blood tested and analyzed. They were: R. R. Robinson, Max Seton, Ross Seton, Roy Robinson and Miss Achsa Gamble.

The attending physicians were Dr. Lewis of Ada and Dr. Stout of Oklahoma City, together with the chemist, Clarence Weaver.

The patient, Mrs. R. R. Robinson, is reported doing nicely at the last report today.

SALVATION ARMY IN LOCAL FIELD

HOME SERVICE PROGRAM OF
THE ARMY ENTERS ADA
AND PONTOTOC COUNTY
FOR WORK.

Mr. Bart Andreas, representative of the research department of the Salvation Army, has been in the city for the past two days and has just perfected here the organization of an advisory board for Pontotoc County.

A few months ago the Army made a drive for funds to carry on a years work along constructive lines, and it is in an effort to properly spend that money and to the work that needs to be done that this department is sending representatives throughout the country for the purpose of organizing and getting lined up with the local people in the various communities where the services of the Army are needed.

The work in Pontotoc County was put in operation yesterday when several leading citizens met with Mr. Andreas in the office of county judge, Orel Busby, and organized an advisory board for this county. The following are the officers and members of the board:

Orel Busby, president; R. W. Simpson, vice-president; John Smith, treasurer; Miss Rowena Moore, secretary; Robert Wimble, H. F. Mathis, S. M. Shaw, M. C. Wilson, Dr. J. G. Breco, Marvin Brown, P. A. Norris and Bailey Bobbitt.

The Salvation Army has entered this county with its sixteen great social service activities on a basis more comprehensive and efficient for giving practical aid to the unfortunate than ever before attempted by that of any other organization.

With the establishment of a county advisory board, the Salvation Army has laid at the disposal of the citizens, individually and collectively, the facilities of its many homes for the care of the weak and friendless, as well as the services of its trained personnel.

The major activities of the Salvation Army with which, through the advisory board, help is offered to the unfortunate ones in the county, cover the following ground: Field or evangelistic work; Christmas dinners for poor families; fresh air camps for mothers and children of the poor; free employment bureaus for the "chronically idle"; Missing Friends' Bureau; Young Women's Boarding Homes; Children's Home; Rescue Homes for unfortunate girls; Maternity Hospitals;

DOES THE BULL HAVE A CHANCE

LONDON TIMES WRITER SAYS
SUCH ARGUMENTS AS NOW
URGED AGAINST BULL
FIGHTING ARE PUNK

By the Associated Press

LONDON, June 19.—The hackneyed argument against bull-fights, that the bull has not a sporting chance, is refuted by the death in Madrid of the idolized Joselito who was gored to death in the eighth year of his career, according to a correspondent writing to the London Times on "The Psychology of the Bull-Ring." He says:

"True that of the 1,430 bulls that Joselito disposed of in his brief career as a matador only seven succeeded in wounding his body and one taking his life.

"Yet, even if we accept these figures as an average, though they result from the experience of the most skilful bull-dodger that the Spanish ring ever knew, they are amply sufficient to prove that the bull has a sporting chance considerably higher than that of the fox or deer.

"The opinion seems to be general in England that bull fights satisfy a craving for cruelty and sanguinary scenes. Nothing is farther from the truth. It is not because bull-fights are sanguinary, but in spite of their being so, that Spaniards like them.

"It is seldom that the foreigner can appreciate a bull fight as something more complex and dramatic than a picture. Once he has taken in the graceful curve of the ring, the movement, the color, and the merry hubbub of thousands of voices and the blue sky overhead; once he has seen the despojo, the glistening costumes of the toreros, the quaint ceremony of the throwing of the key; once he has felt the first bull rush out from his dark cell, and suddenly stop, dazzled by the sun, cutting out on the yellow sand its beautiful profile—nothing remains in store for him save monotony, broken now and then by outbursts of disgust. But it is then that the true 'aficionado' begins to enjoy himself.

ADA BOY WRITES THRILLING TALE

RALPH ADAIR, SON OF MR. AND
MRS. W. B. ADAIR, OF THIS CITY, TELLS EXPERIENCES ABROAD.

Miss Crickett Adair of this city is just in receipt of a most interesting letter from her brother, Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Adair, who enlisted in the navy in 1918 and who has seen service in Siberia, Japan and the Philippines and who is now at Manila.

The letter is too long for publication in detail but some of the most interesting paragraphs are reproduced herewith and will no doubt be enjoyed by his many friends here:

"I enlisted in the U. S. navy on December 30, 1918, at Oklahoma City. * * * A navy hammock is a piece of canvas with ropes on both ends so that it can be strung up to rods called jack staves. At night all hands are supposed to sleep in hammocks. Well, it sounds easy to sleep in a hammock, but I say it is next to impossible the first time a fellow tries. I made three trials; some people believe the third time charms. Well, it did that time. I hit on my back instead of head first and then lay down on the deck and went to sleep. * * *

"The detention camps is where a rookie has to be filled full of shots and information. We were held in detention 2 days and then after we had become good and salty, we were transferred to Camp Dewey. * * * In Camp Dewey we were allowed to go to the movies and to stay up at night. (That is, we stayed up until 9 o'clock, or until the movies were over.) * * * The pay call blew and we fell in line according to pay number. My number was over 5,000, so I thought the whole navy had gotten in one line and I was at the rear end. * * *

"We shoved off to Chicago where I made a good job of getting lost and was two hours over leave at camp. I was stopped by a guard and taken up before another officer and, after I told him I had been lost, he said I didn't have anything on him, so he let me off without a sentence. * * *

"On April 1st I was sent to Camp Luce. * * * The first night I was put on guard and went to sleep. The next morning I went up before a lieutenant. He asked me if I knew the penalty for sleeping on guard during war. I told him I did not. He then said that any man that slept on guard duty in time of war was shot. I swallowed my Adams' Apple and was glad that there was no war. * * * We were put aboard a train and sent to Mare Island, California. * * * On May 3rd we were sent to Goat Island and granted liberty over night. All hands went to San Francisco or Oakland.

"On May 5th there were about 500 of us transferred to the U. S. A. T. Thomas and put out to sea. * * * They served chow on that ship and we didn't know whether we were supposed to eat it or use it for hair tonic.

"On April 15th we arrived at Honolulu. It is a good place but there is something there that the sailors do not like. * * *

"We shoved off again on the 16th and sailed for Vladivostok, Siberia.

HARDING DEFERS HIS VACATION NOW

From Monday's Daily
WASHINGTON, June 19.—Senator Warren G. Harding, republican nominee, has temporarily abandoned his plan for taking a vacation, and remained in Washington for further conferences with party leaders. It was said that these conferences, held for the purpose of learning the views and bringing together in harmonious organization various factions of the party, likely would be continued until the nominee leaves for his home in Marion, Ohio, where he will be notified formally of his nomination.

Senator Harding had a long conference at his home last night with Chairman Will H. Hays, of the republican national committee, and Harry M. Daugherty, his campaign manager.

James S. Sloan, Jr., for 14 years the good service agent at the White House, took up his duties today as personal attendant to the republican nominee.

Short News Notes From Movieland

By Daisy Dean.

Harriet Hammond, one of the prettiest of all the pretty Sennett bathing girls, is obeying "mother" of that old rhyme by not going near the water. And Harriet is not planning to go near the water, even is she has a wee little bathing suit on. We can tell that because she is wearing her wrist watch and the family pearls and French heeled slippers and even Sennett girls do not swim with such bathing accessories.

Harriet says that she doesn't think she should swim anyhow because her suit is made of green taffeta trimmed with gold lace roses. Because of her height, her very blond hair, her red cheeks and her strength she has been called the Amazon of the Sennett girls, but we don't think she's an Amazon.

Anyhow we like to look at Harriet on hot days when we have to sit in our office far away from the California beaches, and we thought perhaps you might like to do the same.

GOMPERS DEFEATED IN FIGHT FOR BEER

By News' Special Service:

MONTREAL, Que., June 16.—Samuel Gompers met his first decisive defeat in the executive council of the American Federation of Labor today when his proposal for a beer and wine plank in the political demands of the federation was beaten. Gompers, who has been the aggressive leader of the anti-prohibition forces of the federation, hoped to carry to the democratic convention a strong demand for the restoration of beer and light wines. There was every reason to expect that the executive council would endorse such a plank. In past years only one member, Frank Morrison secretary of Labor, consistently voted "dry." Last year the entire convention adjourned and went to Washington in a body to protest to Congress against prohibition.

This year when Gompers brought his motion before the council he was surprised to find that Morrison had been joined by three others. These three were Daniel J. Tobin, president of the Teamster's Union; Jacob Fischer of the Barber's Union and T. A. Rickert of the United Garment Workers.

A bitter debate developed, but Gompers was unable to secure a majority for his motion and so the prohibition question does not appear in the political demands of the federation.

It is generally understood that the action of these three executive council members is the outgrowth of what has developed into a contest between the so-called "Indianapolis faction" and the Gompers' group.

Great interest is being manifested among the delegates as to whether the advocates of beer and wine will now attempt to bring the fight to the floor of the convention. This would involve a difficult parliamentary fight, as resolutions can now be brought before the convention only by unanimous consent. As there are some ardent prohibitionists among the delegates this probably could not be secured. The only other way to get the question on the floor would be by amendment to some resolution now in committee.

MONTREAL, Que., June 14.—Organized labor of the United States was appealed to by Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor today to support the nonpartisan political program of the federation and urge upon Congress the adoption of the League of Nations. Characterizing the failure of the United States to ratify the covenant as "pitiable," Mr. Gompers, addressing the annual convention of the federation, said:

"If the question was submitted to the people, without any other entangling problems, I am positive the people of our country would say by an overwhelming vote that it desires the League of Nations."

The veteran labor chief expressed fear that in the coming political campaign the league question will be "submerged in the number of questions which must attract the attention of the people of the United States."

"It is regrettable," he added, "that the question in itself has not had an opportunity to be presented for the consideration and determination of the people of our country."

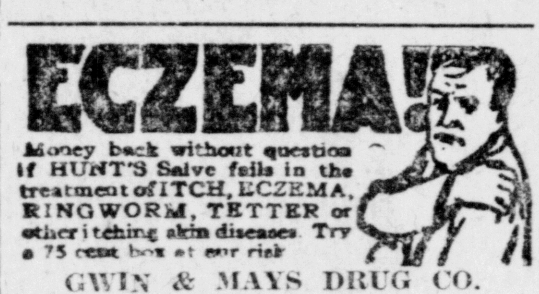

Mr. Gompers was brief in his appeal to the federation to continue to stand by his nonpartisan political program, asserting the subject "may be in concrete form before the convention" within the next few days.

Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor announced this afternoon he had telegraphed a protest to the Department of Labor against the importation of laborers from Mexico to "break" the longshoremen's strike at Galveston, Texas.

International organization of the world's union workers to further their aims and prevent another world war was advocated by J. W. Ogden, fraternal delegate of the British Trade Union Congress, today before the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Ogden, however, warned the federation that it must ignore any "internationale" similar to that formed in Russia or other countries.

"The only internationale we can recognize is the one that is formed on the right, proper and legal basis," he added. "The only way we will be able to prevent useless conflict is by linking the workers of the world into a great international organization."

BROTHER LATTA AND THE GATES OF HELL

When Solomon said that there is nothing new under the sun it is an absolute certainty that he had never read the editorial eulogizing the platform-committee of the Chicago convention, which editorial aforesaid was published last Wednesday in the Tulsa World. That editorial is something new—decidedly new, and if it were not for the respect due any brother of the editorial tripod, we would be tempted to say that it is newer than an unpipped chick or the legs of an unhatched frog.

We have done some random reading in our worldly pilgrimage, but we have never read anything that will compare with the World editorial. We doubt if anything like it has ever before been written. We are confident that Chas. A. Dana or Horace Greely never wrote anything like it. The only thing in literature, ancient or modern, that even faintly resembles it is the wonderful lecture once delivered by Bill Nye on "The Inhumanity of Dehorning Hydraulic Rams."

"During one of the many tense moments at Chicago," tragically vows the World, "thirteen men held the fate of the republican party in their hands." Waiving the patent fact that even Boise Penrose is not equal to thirteen men, in the name of manual physiology we would like to inquire where anything is supposed to be held if not in the hands. But having included in the record the staggering declaration that Penrose is equal to a baker's dozen and that the fate of the G. O. P. was in the hands and not the hip pockets or socks or purses of the aforesaid, the editorial writer goes ahead thusly:

"Some thought and said with them rested the fate of the nation," Oh, darling! Don't you know that the entire republican party armed with dynamite couldn't threaten the fate of E Pluribus Unum? This nation has been fool proof for a hundred and forty odd years. The convocation of that baker's dozen didn't even effect the price of spaghetti, to say nothing of giving knockout drops to Uncle Sam. You have lost your perspective. It all goes to show what happens to a mere editor who attends a well irrigated political convention.

But having safely passed the point where hijackers lay in wait to murder the nation and still holding the fate of the republic in their hands instead of their purses the committee makes further progress. "The platform is one of the finest exhibitions of courageous Americanism that has come from a national convention of any party in many, many years. There is in it the trumpet call of a great party sounding retreat on many subjects." Glory be! Now we have the milk in the coconut. We are at last down to the rosin on the fiddle bow. The courageous committee sounds retreat on many subjects. Not since the Trojans brought Hector home, or whoever it was that took somebody somewhere or other, has so many retreats been sounded on so many subjects as are sounded in this same Chicago platform.

Behold the political acumen that can sidestep every vital issue, that can straddle every debated question, that can ignore every public demand, that can avoid every embarrassing situation. Behold the godlike courage that can select so many subjects and sound a retreat on every subject with a courage rarely seen and never surpassed in modern history. "Desaix never taught me how to beat a retreat" said the drummer boy at Marengo. But that poor drummer boy never had a chance to train under the baker's dozen who have specialized in beating retreats and worked seven shifts beating numerous retreats at Chicago.

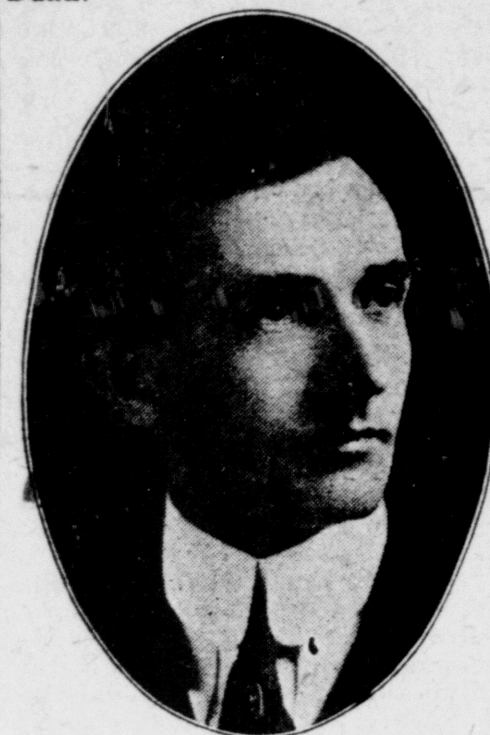

Here we have something new under the sun. Here we have the record of the immortal thirteen in one. Penrose is equal to thirteen. The fate of the nation was held by the committee and held in its hands. Marvelous courage was exhibited. This exhibition spent itself in sounding retreats. The retreats were sounded on many subjects. The eyes of the whole world were on that committee (everybody was seeing things). And having heard the retreat sounded on every subject submitted to that courageous committee the World editor reaches the climax of his spasm. "The gates of hell shall not prevail against that pronouncement."

Brother Latta, you shock us into speechlessness. You close your riddle with a conundrum. You answer our interrogatory of who struck Billy Patterson by asking us how old is Ann. You present an assertion, old as biblical history that raises a question not to be satisfied this side of the judgment. How can the gates of hell prevail against a pronouncement or a party that is retreating to beat hell?

The beauty of the wonderful rain that fell last night is that it fell before it was badly needed. Just as the dry earth began to demand moisture, the clouds opened and a bountiful rain came to soak the earth. A professional rain-maker could not have delivered a rain at a happier time. It could not have fallen in a more approved manner. Not a downpour by any means, it was just a steady rain that fell hour after hour, thus sinking into the ground and storing itself away for a day of need. Oklahoma beats the world after all.

The News Questionnaire

Today we introduce Mr. C. V. Dunn.

- Q. What is your full name?
A. Chester Virgil Dunn.
- Q. Where were you born?
A. New Philadelphia, Ohio.
- Q. What is your age?
A. 38.
- Q. Where were you educated?
A. Bethany college in Bethany West Virginia and in Yale University.
- Q. When a school boy what was your favorite sport?
A. Prisoner's base and black man.
- Q. What is your hobby as a grown up man?
A. To establish the Kingdom of God in Ada and the rest of the world.
- Q. Why did you enter your present business (or profession)?
A. Because I thought I could do more good in it than in any other.
- Q. If you had your life to live over again, what change would you make?
A. Live closer to God.
- Q. Why do you live in Ada?
A. Because Ada is a live, growing town and needs Jesus Christ.
- Q. If you had a million dollars, what would you do with it?
A. I cannot tell for sure because a million dollars might turn my head as it has turned the heads of thousands of others. Whoever heard of a preacher with a million dollar? The idea is preposterous; but if I had a million dollars, I think I would buy a Ford for the benefit of my family and the work of the Lord. I would increase my bank account to a limited extent. The rest I would devote to Christian missions and the endowment of benevolent institutions and Christian colleges.

human drift where the Vigilantes staged many a stirring scene and the "sand-lotters" under the leadership of fiery Dennis Kearney, discussed the town's political issues. Some of the old wine shops, rivals in the new world of the coffee houses of Addison and Steele as gathering places of the artists and the Literrati, still cling to the Latin Quarter. But most of the old cafes, where much of the city's history was plotted, remain in name only. Gone is Duncan Nichol's, the "Bank Exchange" of former days where the famous Pisco Punch was served over a mahogany bar that was brought around the Horn. The old Cliff House, where Presidents of the United States and other renowned itinerants used to enjoy the sea food breakfasts, was burned years ago.

On Waverly Place still may be seen the quarters of the old Siberia Club stronghold of Yee Mee, "King of Chinatown." Here, before the police "axe parties" became a feagames of "coon-can," "chuck-a-luck" and "fan-tan" were played in a maze of corridors, sliding panels worked by secret springs and exotic odors of opium and Chinese dishes. Above the gambling room were the alcoves where the beaten and broken gamblers could sleep off their debauch and could remain until they had recouped their fortunes.

The black docks that lined the "Front" from China Basin to the Presidio, are gone and stately berths for ocean liners have arisen in their place. The dingy bars that stood back of them, where adventurous of all degrees were once dropping drug-stupefied, through trap-doors and into waiting boats below as part of the great "shanghai" game, all have been swept away.

The "shanghai" was the system for recruiting the crews of the "lime juicers," the great deep-sea barks, that piled principally between San Francisco and South American ports. They got their name through the fact that for more than a decade those under English registry carried a consignment of lime juice on every voyage to combat epidemics of scurvy among the crews. With improved conditions the scurvy disappeared and the lime juice went into the water-front cocktails.

The cannon ball that made up the defenses of the old Presidio may still be seen in mock defense of Sutro heights. Nob Hill, once the home of the city's elite, shows a collection of jagged foundations, much as the great fire left. "South of the Slot," the ancient tenements have given way to smart apartments in their midst standing the slowly disintegrating ruins of the "Mission of Sorrows," known in Spanish as the "Mission Dolores," built in 1776 by the Franciscans. It is the best memento of the romantic old San Francisco that endures.

Cotton Market Report

(As furnished by Ada Cotton Exchange.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 19.—The recent downward tendency of market, due to improving crop accounts, the result of more favorable weather, was checked and the trend of values became upward again because of the return of wet weather in the cotton region at near close of week. The rains have become general, heavy in localities, with indications of extending over Sunday, perhaps into early next week. Occasional rains would probably have been of benefit to the growing crop, but since they promise to continue, with prospects of being excessive in localities, they are likely to be injurious by preventing cultivation and promoting the growth of grass and weeds. The wet weather will likely be productive of causing weevils to become more numerous and destructive. If torrential rains are experienced in sections where planting has just been finished, they may necessitate replanting at this very late date, perhaps further abandonment of acreage. While some improvement has undoubtedly taken place in the average condition of the plant, perhaps 5 or 6 points since the last bureau report of 62.4, chances are that the July bureau will show, as did the June bureau, the lowest condition on record for June 25, or a shade under 70, which would compare with 70 last year, 85.6 year before last and the ten-year average of 79.8. With the publishing of the next bureau report, the government will announce the indicated acreage for this year, which will compare with last years' revised figures of 35,133,000.

There is much uncertainty as to whether the government will report an increase or a decrease in this year's acreage compared with one year ago. The consensus of opinion is that the area devoted to cotton this year will be about the same as one year ago. Compared with last season exports up to yesterday, from the United States to Europe, were 6,119,000 bates against 4,685,000, the south marketed 11,635,000 against 10,912,000, and spinners of the world took 11,319,000 of American compared with 9,454,000, leaving stock at all ports 958,000 vs. 1,345,000, and at 30 counted interior towns 836,000 vs. 987,000, while the world visible of all kinds was 5,514,000 vs. 5,966,000, of which 3,492,000 was American against 3,382,000, of which only 1,703,000 was in the United States against 2,333,000. SOCIETY NEWS

There is a charming maid I know
Who's fond, I think, of disputations.
But then our judgments differ so
And different are our inclinations.
I'm very partial to the rose,
While she declares for pinks and and asters;
To praising opera bouffe she goes.
While I prefer the music masters.

She thinks—and often tells me why,
In poetry there's joy exceeding,
But all its pleasures I deny
Since I'm for other sorts of reading.
She thinks that golf's the finest game
And one that active folk should follow,
But I insist that golf is tame—
That tennis has it beaten hollow.

We argue long and give and take,
But naught of wrath our talk engenders.
And in the end we're sure to make
The merriest of all contenders.
Ho! what if we have frequently
Our little differences to smother,
When always we on this agree—
That we most dearly love each other.

The Delphian Club

The Delphian club held its regular meeting in the parlors of the Methodist church with Mrs. Wells leader of the lessons.

The club readers have reached the point in the study of the development of the early drama where the old English town-guilds have undertaken the presentation of miracle plays and pageants in the street or market-square.

The early Greek drama grew out of a religious worship but after the Romans began the presentation of plays and, unlike the Greeks who never acted the tragedy out on the stage but being lovers of oratory had long oratorical monologues. The Romans wanted more action in their plays. The more action they put into their plays the more corrupt they became until instead of being a religious worship it had sunk to such degradation by the close of the 13th century that it was condemned and abhorred by the early Christian fathers.

When it rose again it bore no relation to the drama of antiquity but was used by the priests to present the story of some saint or some wonder wrought in behalf of religion to the worshippers who did not possess Bibles nor could have read them because Latin was unknown to the masses. As the attendance outgrew the church, for convenience, they moved first into the church-yard and later into the market-squares. The farther away from the church they held these presentations the less they had of the church, about them until only a few of the present morality plays bear any semblance to the original form.

The club will hold its next meeting in Mrs. R. E. Haynes' home next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

PONGEE SUIT IS ALWAYS POPULAR FOR SUMMER WEAR

By Eloise

Every woman is aware that a suit is essential in a complete wardrobe even in summer. The thing every woman does not know is what kind of suit to choose for summer wear. Shall it be serge? Silk? Linen? Shall it be plain or tailored? These are the questions which confront the woman who would have a summer suit. Here is a suggestion which she will do well to think over. Pongee is one of the most serviceable and most attractive materials for summer suiting. It launders perfectly, wears "forever", as the flapper would say, is cool and permits of many styles and different kinds of trimming.

Here is a very smart suit which shows the possibilities of pongee made on tailored lines. It is an exquisitely made failleur of natural pongee with every line and seam showing expert workmanship. A narrow belt and double pockets form finishing touches quite in keeping with the rest of the costume.

A simple tailored blouse of crepe de chine with a hemstitched collar is worn with the suit and a smart little narrow-brimmed hat of tan felt, trimmed with white embroidery done in wool, tops it. The whole outfit is the essence of smartness and good taste.

Dick Black paid $24.75 in police court this morning on the dual charge of drunkenness and emulating the interior of the city jail. Having been incarcerated by the city police for appearing in a public place highly illuminated, the colored Black proceeded to clean up the limited premises. For one hour more or less the defendant did then and there smash chairs, rip mattresses, devour cuspidors and gnaw the iron bars separating him from liberty and the pursuits of happiness. On his appearance in police court this morning he was duly fined for his night of revelry. Will Freeland and Red Chapman were assessed $10.75 each this morning by Mayor Kitchens. They were charged with drunkenness.

All who do not owe church allegiance elsewhere are most cordially invited to attend tomorrow both morning and evening.
Mid-week prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.
Christian Endeavor Sunday at 7 o'clock. This will be an echo-meeting from the great commotion at Muskogee this week. All the local delegates will be present and report their views of the state meeting. All young people of the town are invited.

First Baptist Church.
Last Sunday we had 450 in Sunday school and we were happy. Why can't we have 500 tomorrow? We can if we will put forth a little effort by inviting our friends to come with us. We ought to have an average attendance of six hundred. If you are not now attending we would be delighted to have you at the First Baptist Sunday school at 9:45.

The pastor will preach at eleven o'clock on the subject, "Sounding Out the Gospel." We are exceedingly anxious for a large congregation to hear this message.

The Senior B. Y. P. U. will meet at seven o'clock. They have a splendid program arranged and all the young people are urged to be present at that hour.

At the evening hour the pastor will preach on the subject, "What is the supreme gift to Jesus?" The service will begin promptly at 8:15.

The general public will always find a cordial welcome at our church. We are always delighted to see visitors and strangers with us. It is our sincere desire to do the people good and not evil at all. Man, woman, boy, girl, whoever you are, you may not be in the habit of attending church anywhere, we urge you to come to our church Sunday at one or both of the services and we believe it will help you to meet the battles of life.
Clyde Calhoun Morris, Pastor.

Christian Church.

A live Bible school meets every Sunday morning at 9:45. There is a class for each one from the youngest child to the oldest man or woman. All are cordially welcome. There is a special class taking a 9-week practical course in the Bible during the summer. To this class all young people are welcome, whether married or single.

THINK ABOUT IT

Very often people are fortunate enough to buy second-hand articles at a fraction of their real value which serve a better purpose and are really more suitable for the special use desired than brand new and expensive articles would be.

Indeed, there are many almost priceless antiques that have been sold "for a song" when their owners were suddenly confronted with the need of ready cash. Many people, too, possess things which they would like to exchange for others.

In the News want columns appear many opportunities to obtain splendid bargains in just those second-hand articles which you have long desired. Many exchanges of household wares are also effected daily through the News want ads to the great benefit of both parties concerned. Call No. 4 and ask for the want ad taker.

We ought to have two hundred present Sunday morning.

Morning worship will begin at 11 o'clock. There ought to be a large attendance Sunday morning. The weather will be fine and the members should all be present. Then we expect many others, but no one will be a stranger more than once. Come and let us praise the Lord together. The minister will preach on "The Good Samaritan," the second of seven parables to be presented.

The Christian Endeavor society will meet at 7 o'clock. The topic will be "Honesty." Vern Walters will lead the meeting. A fine bunch of young people is in the habit of meeting here on Sunday evening for a helpful hour together. A cordial welcome is extended to all. Students who are away from home will find good fellowship in this society.

Evening church worship will begin at 8 o'clock. The male quartet will sing, and that is sufficient to make it worth while to come. The minister will preach on the theme, "Divine Healing." This is a very important theme. The Bible teach-

WOMEN NEED NOT STAND IT

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Surely Removes Suffering and Pain. Here is Proof.

St. Paul, Neb.—"I suffered with periodical pain for about four years so that I was unable to do my work at times. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it. It soon stopped all my suffering so that I am now feeling fine in every way. I recommend your medicine to my friends who have similar troubles. You may publish this letter for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. WILL THOMAS, St. Paul, Neb.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who now are free from suffering by its use.

CITIZEN TO LOSE VOTE IN CHANGE OF POLITICS NOW

By News' Special Service:

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 18.—It is too late for persons registered as belonging to one political party to change their registration in order to vote in the primary election of another party on August 3, according to W. C. McAlister, secretary of the state election board. The time for changing registration expired May 5, he said yesterday.

Writing to a member of one of the county election boards yesterday, McAlister quoted from the statutes as follows:

"No change in registration shall be granted on the ground of change of politics, unless application therefor be made at least ninety days before the next succeeding general primary election."

"If I have calculated correctly under the law no person is permitted to change his political affiliation of record since May 5," McAlister said. "At any time before that, it was permissible for any citizen to go to his precinct registrar with his registration certificate, ask for its cancellation and get a new certificate in any party with which he wished to affiliate. The time for ing on this subject will be clearly presented. Does God heal physical disease? What does Christian Science teach on this subject? Every one cordially welcome at all services.—C. V. Dunn, Minister.

that change has passed for this year."

Attempts have been made by many persons to change their registration since the time expired, said McAlister. Any person who has received a new registration certificate since May 5 may be challenged as to party affiliation when he presents the certificate for a ballot on the day of the primary, he said.

Will Win For You

"Here is a tire you can trust—a better tire than any other manufacturer has ever built," Barney Oldfield told Gaston Chevrolet before the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Gaston Chevrolet trusted Barney Oldfield.

So he chose Oldfield Tires, and became the first driver in history to win this, the world's greatest race without a tire change.

In his 500-mile flight over the rough bricks at 88.55 miles an hour, Gaston Chevrolet's tires resisted a degree of wear fully equal to that of 20,000 miles of ordinary running. Yet they finished in condition for many more miles of cruel competition.

A man whom his friends really trust, deserves your faith too. Trust Barney Oldfield!

Public libraries as memorials for those who served in the great war are proposed in bills sponsored by the Department of Virginia and introduced in the Virginia legislature. The bills would give the board of supervisors of any county or the council of any city or town power to levy an annual tax of not to exceed two mills for the erection and maintenance of a memorial library. State aid for maintenance of the libraries would be provided according to population and the amounts of local appropriations. A supplementary bill provides that the state erect a $2,000,000 Memorial Library in Richmond if the city gives the site.

A News Reporter Relates His Ideas Regarding Moving

Say, did you ever move your household goods from one town to another? I'm not talking now to you rolling stones but to the peaceful, home-loving kind of folks. Well, if you have, this little rambling will make you somewhat reminiscent.

When you planned to leave you didn't think you had so much to move, did you? But my, when you searched every nook and cranny for your earthly possessions, what a voluminous collection you assembled. There were many things in that mess of baggage you wanted and still hated to carry with you; There were many things you wished you could convert into the jingling shakers that once made sweet music in your pocket; there were many other things you really did need in house-keeping. You wished that Americans did not cater so to their fancies that so many things were required to keep house.

My, how you did sweat packing and crating up that lot of stuff. And, sometimes when a mighty stroke of the hammer descended upon your finger instead of the nail, didn't you have to atch your tongue to keep it in the bounds of school-house rhetoric? Finally, however, you got the whole business crated up and ordered the drayman to carry it to the station.

When everything was gone you heaved a sigh of relief as you started to get ready to catch the train. But, lo and behold, you had crated up something you or your family intended to wear. There wasn't any use to cry about it, so you bit your lip and went ahead.

You arrived in the new town several days before your household effects arrived, during which time, you paid the usual aches for yourself and family at the local hotel. Your things came, though, by and by and you paid your bill at the hotel and started in on the job of unpacking and assembling everything in the new house. You thought packing was a job but it didn't hold a headlight with unpacking. Your lily white hands, did they get by without receiving a blister? I say not. You didn't think you could do all that work but you saw it was a case of have to.

What about those first few meals you ate after starting to set up, or would you give them such auspicious titles as meals? Remember the time when your wife handed out a lunch to a hobo that had them bested more ways than a farmer could go to town. When meal time came (and you were hungry enough to eat shoe leather) you couldn't find any dishes to eat out of excepting the ornamental china tha had graced

Vladi is a great place for a fellow who loves excitement but that is all there is there. There is every nationality I can think of in Vladi and everybody seems to be some high officer. A fellow has to watch his step or some Bolshevik is liable to take a shot at him. It seems that fighting is the national pastime in Siberia. The Czech-Slovaks are the best friends the Americans have in Vladi, and a fellow needs friends. There are street cars and traskies (buggies) there to ride in but there is never room in the cars and as the streets are paved with cobblestones the traskies are not a very easy thing to ride in. There is no such thing as giving a lady your seat in Siberia, but I guess they know their business.

"They think nothing of shooting a fellow down in the streets and I guess they figure that the fellow who shoots first is the luckiest. We have been instructed to salute all army and navy officers. I was standing on a corner when a fellow came down the street with medals and gold enough to decorate an army. I thought it must be the guy who won the war, so I brought up a snappy salute and the soldier burst out laughing. I asked what was the matter and was told that I had saluted the chief of police. * * *

"There is a morgue in Vladi where the poor are put when they die. The bodies are sprinkled with lime and left to rest in peace. "We left Vladi the 5th of June and sailed for Nagasaki, Japan. We coaled ship and all hands were given liberty. * * *

" * * * We shoved off and arrived in Manila June 13 and were sent to the naval station at Cavite and ate up all the chow we could get our hands on the evening of the same day. All the A. and B. were sent to the U. S. S. New Orleans."

the walls instead of the table. What did you have to eat anyway? Well, we are not saying, but suffice to say that you munched it down with none too pleasant a look on your face.

And clothes, you didn't have them just so so, did you? You felt more like a Bolshevik than an American citizen. You needed clean this and clean that but you didn't have it, and you knew the reason, so you just had to swallow your wrath.

Maybe you didn't do anything rash, but did you keep sweet through it all? We'll let you answer that for yourself but the author of this article openly confesses that it was a hard job.

Disastrous Fire Suppressed Last Night at Goldie's

BAINBRIDGE COLBY SPURNS HONOR OF DEM. CHAIRMAN

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Bainbridge Colby declared in a statement today that he was not even a "receptive candidate for permanent chairman of the Democrat national convention."

Mr. Colby said, "the reports persist that I am to be permanent chairman of the Democratic convention. This report has no foundation."

"The organization of the convention and the choice of its officers are matters which the convention itself will decide."

"I am not even a receptive candidate for the position for permanent chairman. There are many members of the party, with much stronger claims upon its recognition and who rightly deserve any honor in its gift."

MARINE CORPS COMMANDANT NAMED TODAY

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Appointment of Major General John A. Le Jeune, as Major General commandant of the marine corps, to succeed Major General George Barnett, was announced today by Secretary Daniels.

General Le Jeune commanded the famous second division when it broke the German line in the Argonne offensive and the secretary said his appointment to command the marines was in line with the policy of the department to reward the officers who served with distinction during the war.

M'CADOO REFUSES THE PRESIDENCY

NEW YORK, June 19.—In words which admit of no other interpretation, William G. McAdoo last night issued a statement in which he finally and irrevocably refuses to permit his name to go before the democratic convention at San Francisco.

Mr. McAdoo reiterates that his reason for leaving Washington was that he desired to "rehabilitate his fortune," and that the time has not come when he can conscientiously give his services to his party. He declares that he cannot afford a presidential campaign, should he be nominated, and that he would not wish his friends to furnish the necessary funds.

McAdoo's decision became known when he released a telegram he sent late today to J. M. House at Washington. Mr. House had on Thursday wired the former secretary of the treasury asking him for a definite statement as to his candidacy and making a final request that Mr. McAdoo permit his friends to place him in nomination.
